What does intrigued mean here?

- A. to escape from a wicked family
- B. to make someone very curious and interested
- C. to clean a sooty fireplace
- D. to make someone bored and uninterested

Q17 RI.4.4

Up until that point, Frederic believed the king enforced strict rules because he feared for his son's safety. But now he saw that wasn't necessarily the case.

What does enforced mean here?

- A. to make people obey a rule or law
- B. to fear for someone's safety
- C. to see something clearly for the first time
- D. to let people ignore the rules

Q18 RI.4.4

Frederic saw that his father's rules were not only about keeping him safe. So, for the first time, Frederic stood up to his father.

What does stood up to mean here?

- A. to stand when a king enters a room
- B. to obey strict rules for safety
- C. to bravely refuse to do what someone more powerful wants
- D. to quietly do whatever someone tells you

Q19 RI.4.4

What does onerous mean here?

- A. magical, like a fairy's spell
- B. fancy and fit for a palace
- C. quick, easy, and fun to do
- D. very hard, tiring, and unpleasant to do

Q21 RI.4.4

While Ella suffered through her hard tasks, she dreamed of a more exhilarating life. She imagined riding camels across deserts and climbing cloud-covered peaks.

What does exhilarating mean here?

- A. safe and quiet, inside a palace
- B. dull and boring, with nothing new
- C. very exciting and full of thrills
- D. full of hard chores

Q22 RI.4.4

Frederic usually suggested the same few activities, like picnics. Ella's unchanging routine made her feel uncomfortably like a prisoner again.

What does routine mean here?

- A. a prison with locked doors
- B. a surprise that changes your whole day
- C. a picnic on the palace lawn
- D. the usual way you do things, the same way every day

Q23 RI.4.4

What does lowers mean here?

- A. to move something or someone down slowly
- B. to drop boxes from a plane
- C. to land outside a burning area
- D. to lift something up higher

Q13 RI.4.4

The plane drops ten boxes, one for each pair of jumpers. The boxes contain everything they need for three days, like shovels, food, and water.

What does contain mean here?

- A. to be totally empty inside
- B. to pair up with another jumper
- C. to drop from a plane
- D. to have something inside

Q14 RI.4.4

The boxes hold what the jumpers need for three days. If they have to stay longer, more supplies will be dropped in.

What does supplies mean here?

- A. things that people need, such as food, water, and tools
- B. things that people throw away because they are not needed
- C. boxes that fall from a plane
- D. days spent fighting a fire

Q15 RI.4.4

All twenty jumpers have landed safely, and their boxes have been dropped. The jumpers unpack and get to work.

What does get to work mean here?

- A. to stop working and take a long rest
- B. to start doing a job
- C. to travel to an office by bus
- D. to unpack a box

Q16 RI.4.4

A smokejumper's most important task is to create a firebreak. That is a stretch of ground with nothing left to burn.

What does task mean here?

- A. a free time when you have nothing to do
- B. a box full of tools
- C. a stretch of ground with no trees
- D. a piece of work that someone has to do

Q17 RI.4.4

A smokejumper's most important task is to create a firebreak. That's a stretch of ground with no trees, branches, shrubs, or leaf piles.

What does firebreak mean here?

- A. a strip of cleared ground that stops a fire from spreading
- B. a short rest during a long job
- C. a truck that carries water to a fire
- D. a pile of dry leaves that makes a fire grow bigger

Q18 RI.4.4

A firebreak is a stretch of ground with nothing left to burn. There are no trees, branches, shrubs, or leaf piles.

What does shrubs mean here?

- A. branches that have fallen off trees
- B. piles of dry leaves on the ground
- C. tall trees that reach high into the sky
- D. low plants with many woody stems, smaller than trees

Q19 RI.4.4

Smokejumpers clear away trees and shrubs. They try to make the fire burn itself out by taking away its fuel.

What does burn itself out mean here?

- A. to start a fire with a match
- B. to keep burning until there is nothing left to burn, and then stop
- C. to burn faster and spread to new places
- D. to take away trees and shrubs

Q20 RI.4.4

Smokejumpers try to make the fire burn itself out. They do this by taking away its fuel, like trees and dry leaves.

What does fuel mean here?

- A. something that a smokejumper carries
- B. something used to dig a hole
- C. something that is burned to make heat or power
- D. something that puts out a fire, like water

Q21 RI.4.4

Withen explains why smokejumpers jump into fires. 'There is a rule that says the closest available resources must respond to a fire,' he says.

What does available mean here?

- A. far away from a wildfire
- B. ready and able to be used or to help
- C. busy and not able to be used at all
- D. dedicated and hardworking

Q22 RI.4.4

There is a rule that the closest available resources must respond to a fire. 'That's often the smokejumpers,' says Withen.

What does resources mean here?

- A. things that get in the way and make a job harder
- B. trucks that drive thirty miles
- C. useful things or people that can be used to get a job done
- D. rules that tell people what to do

Q23 RI.4.4

The closest available resources must respond to a fire. A fire truck thirty miles away could take an hour or more to reach the blaze.

What does respond mean here?

- A. to wait an hour or more
- B. to drive thirty miles away
- C. to ignore something and do nothing about it
- D. to act or answer when something happens

Q24 RI.4.4

A fire truck thirty miles away could take an hour or more to reach the blaze. Airplanes are much faster.

What does blaze mean here?

- A. a tiny spark that quickly goes out
- B. a large, strong fire
- C. a truck that drives very far
- D. an airplane that flies fast

Q25 RI.4.4

Thanks to the smokejumpers and other dedicated firefighters, many lives are saved each year. Thousands of acres of wild land are saved, too.

What does dedicated mean here?

- A. working very hard for something because you care about it
- B. saved from a dangerous fire
- C. living near a smokejumping base
- D. not caring at all and doing as little as possible

Q26 RI.4.4

Smokejumpers and other dedicated firefighters save many lives each year. They also save thousands of acres of wild land.

What does acres mean here?

- A. lives that are saved by firefighters
- B. units for measuring a large area of land
- C. years of training to fight fires
- D. units for measuring how hot something is

Q27 RI.4.4

Smokejumping is not for the timid. First, would-be smokejumpers must pass a strenuous endurance test.

What does would-be mean here?

- A. afraid of jumping out of an airplane
- B. strong enough to run and swim for hours
- C. hoping or trying to become a certain kind of person someday
- D. already famous after a long and successful career

Q28 RI.4.4

After the endurance test comes six weeks of grueling boot camp. Trainees run, swim, lift weights, and learn to parachute.

What does grueling mean here?

- A. extremely tiring and difficult, often for a long time
- B. short, easy, and relaxing
- C. held in a camp in the woods
- D. full of running and swimming

Q29 RI.4.4

Boot camp includes physical endurance training. Trainees build strong bodies by running, swimming, and lifting weights.

What does physical mean here?

- A. having to do with making your bed
- B. having to do with parachutes
- C. having to do with the mind and thinking
- D. having to do with the body

Q30 RI.4.4
